

NEXT MOVE IN GREAT STRIKE IS UP TO MEN

U.S. GOVERNMENT ACTION OF THE FUTURE

Strike a Reality, Though Leaders Are Enjoined Nearly 400,000 Men Declared To Be Out

(Canadian Press Wire.) Washington, Nov. 1.—Miners must make the next move in the soft coal strike, was the opinion to-day of Government officials.

The strike was a reality to-day, even though directing heads of the United Mine Workers of America were restrained from activity by Federal court injunction. Government officials awaited reports as to the extent of walk-out, for upon this information rested the future course of the Government. Should reports show that any considerable number of miners desire to continue work, the Government was prepared to furnish them protection. Should disorders occur, the Government was ready with all the police powers at its disposal to put them down.

But the Government's activities were not alone in the coal fields. Maximum prices for bituminous coal, formulated to meet war's necessity, were again in effect. Priority of distribution, based in part on the war schedule, was in operation.

NEVER SAW A ROSY FUTURE, BUT HOLLWEG MADE A BLUFF

Ex-Chancellor Describes Course When U-Boat War Was Inevitable.

(A. P. Special Cable.) Berlin, Oct. 31.—Dr. Bethmann-Hollweg, German Chancellor for the greater part of the war, underwent a grilling interrogation before the National Assembly sub-committee, which is endeavoring to determine what possibilities for peace had presented themselves during the war.

Commissioner Stinnesmeier questioned the former Chancellor so insistently on matters detailed at the morning session that von Bethmann-Hollweg, after almost six hours, although for a week time he had awaited an appointment, was obliged to leave.

Considerable time was devoted to the question of Ambassador Gerard, von Bethmann-Hollweg repeatedly asserting that Germany was suspicious of President Wilson's sincerity in offering peace, because he (President Wilson) did not confide in Gerard, and the latter had to go to the president for information. The ex-Chancellor said Ambassador Gerard's observations in Germany generally coincided with his own.

Direct answers were frequently evaded by von Bethmann-Hollweg, who said he could not remember whether he gave Gerard German peace terms, although they had often spoken of peace, and he had told the Ambassador things he said in the Reichstag.

Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg then described repeated efforts he had made to have the chief censor check Pan-German newspapers in their attacks on the United States, but asserted the people will for the "boat warfare" and the British police, who captured several of the pirates.

On arriving at Batum officers of the vessel made a report of the robbery of the British police, who captured several of the pirates.

On the 21st of the month, along the shores of the Black Sea and the Bosphorus, at Trabzon, recently pirates boarded a Greek schooner and stabbed or threw overboard its crew.

Hydro Engineers Salary Investigated By Labor

The action of Hydro Commissioners Nelson and Mills in granting a salary increase of $1,000 to Engineer Sifton is still a burning issue in the minds of the labor party. An investigation was ordered by the party, and the report is to the effect that the duties of the engineer are not nearly so strenuous as would be made to appear. His work is in the category of the Hydro, it is pointed out, and as well fill the position now held by Engineer Sifton is the opinion of the labor party.

GERMAN OFFICERS FACING TRIAL FOR MURDER, ROBBERY

(A. P. Special Cable.) Paris, Oct. 31.—(By the Associated Press.) Charges of murder and robbery against German officers in the 2nd division of the 1st Army, who were captured in the Rue de la Paix, were made public to-day.

(Canadian Press Wire.) Calgary, Nov. 1.—The discovery of a main whisky still in full operation in the janitor's quarters in a local church was made here to-day. The home of Joseph Faine was raided by the city police. Faine is now in the police cells, facing charges under the Internal Revenue Act.

RETAIL MEAT Prices Must Drop, Not To-day.

(Canadian Press Wire.) Toronto, Nov. 1.—It is not necessary that the retail meat dealers reduce their prices to-day in accordance with the order of the Board of Commerce. Mr. J. S. Lundy, representative of the Attorney-General's Department, said to the press to-day: This was in reference to the statements of some of the retailers that they had not yet received the lists on which to base their prices; that the list would go out from the wholesalers to-day, and that the retail prices need not be reduced from their present level to-day.

ON THE MOUNTAIN City Boys Played Some Halloween Pranks.

Fences of mountain residents suffered last night when a mob of boys from the city paid a visit to the hill. Their pranks resulted in considerable damage. They made a clean sweep of all fences and trees, and the damage done to the west, where they did considerable damage to the Buchanan estate, said to-day that the greatest part of the reports sent forth by the Toronto newspapers.

DISMISSED THE ACTION

The action of Harkins and storey against the Hamilton Fruit Market was dismissed to-day. The action was brought on the ground that the defendant disputed payment of the claim on the ground that the potatoes inspected and ordered were of better quality than the shipment received from the plaintiff. Judge Gault found that the potatoes inspected were of the same quality as those sent, and dismissed the action with costs.

It is our privilege and it is to our own personal interests that we buy all the Victory Bonds possible.

We couldn't put our money in a better place for safe keeping and high rate of interest.

We want to save money—everybody does. This is the safest and best way we know of.

These reasons for investing in Victory Bonds are all of the selfish kind.

Remember, we all have a duty to perform. Just read some of the other Victory Loan advertisements and then decide what should be done about the matter.

COMBINING OF FRUITS

Five Good Recipes That Will Help

To Cut Cost of Winter Supplies.

Dried Apples and Pineapple.

A most satisfactory jam can be made from dried apricots and pineapple. Soak a pound of dried apricots overnight as though for stewing, cut rough pieces into small squares to weigh two pounds. Cook the two fruits together until the pineapple is tender and transparent. It will take about an hour, add three cups of sugar and then cook until the right consistency, pour into glasses and seal.

Pineapple and Cherry.

A delicious preserve that has been found in grandmother's cook book is made from pineapple and large white cherries. The pineapple is cut into squares, an equal amount of the fruit is used with pound for pound of sugar. Cook until transparent, pour into glass jars and process for 15 minutes.

Orange and Rhubarb.

Orange and rhubarb are another good combination. With rhubarb is as peevish as they are now, a good way to reduce the cost of preserving. Cut the rhubarb into small pieces, add oranges that have been peeled and seeded, and add five pounds of sugar. Cook for two hours, then add about a half an hour. Then add four cups of sugar and the rind of the oranges that have been cut into very fine strips, or put through the meat chopper.

Raspberry and Currant Preserve.

Mix equal parts of raspberries and currants, making in the kettle, cooking for an hour, straining and adding sugar. For 20 pounds of fruit with three pounds of sugar. Fill the jar with raspberries, pour over them the hot currant juice, part seal and process for 15 minutes.

Apple and Currant.

Cut up together three pounds of plums and one orange. Add a pound of seeded raisins, three cups of sugar and the juice of a lemon. Cook until thick and transparent, a very few minutes before removing from the fire add a cup of pecans, coarsely chopped.

SOME ODD POSTAGE STAMPS

Imagine a postage stamp which, though actually used for franking letters, was yet never sold! This is the curious story attached to the original Egyptian Expeditionary Force (commonly called the Palestine) stamp.

As a precaution against speculation, it was not placed on public sale in the usual way, but was affixed by the postal authorities themselves to letters upon which postage had already been paid.

In some war collections, too, may be seen a typewriter stamp, headed "G. R. I.—Long Island," and of the face value of six shillings. This unique production was "issued" by the British Civil Administration of Chusan, Long Island, in the Gulf of Surra, during its occupation in 1916.

The most singular feature of the stamp is that it was absolutely superfluous as such, because the correspondence of the British forces did not require prepayment, and the natives could not be allowed, in the circumstances, to communicate with the outer world.

Many London firms preserve Russian stamps which were designated to serve as currency and then be used for postage. Printed during a temporary scarcity of small change and of three values—ten, fifteen and twenty kopecks—they bear on the back this inscription: "Having circulation on a par with silver subsidiary coins."

Just as remarkable is the British colonial stamp of 1915. When a consignment of stamps was ready for despatch from London to British Honduras, a number of German raiders were at large on the Atlantic, and there was a risk that it might fall into the hands of the enemy and be used to ruin the British revenue.

So the stamps were overprinted with a motif design, that they might be easily identified. The Germans, however, did not capture the stamps, and they were sold in the usual way.

Why Firestone is Giving Extra Value in Tires

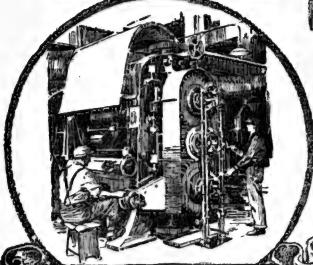

SINGAPORE HEADQUARTERS—Firestone saves car owners $1,000,000 a year by having an organization in Singapore getting first choice of rubber at low cost and shipping direct.

PLANT No. 1—Capacity 20,000 tires a day—concentrated on large tires, cords and truck tires. Manufacturers study it, technical colleges use it, as an example of efficiency in manufacture and organization.

THE FIRESTONE RIM PLANT—Devoted exclusively to Firestone Rims. Vast as is its present capacity it is inadequate to supply the demand for Firestone Rims. Ground is broken for a steel plant double this capacity.

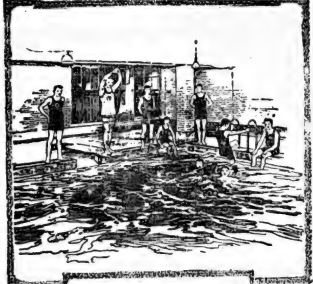

90% OF FIRESTONE WORKERS ARE STOCKHOLDERS in the Company. They have a financial interest in every Firestone customer. Better tires mean more customers. You get the benefit of the best work possible.

PLANT No. 2—Devoted exclusively to 3½-inch tires—capacity 15,000 a day. This new plant with Plant No. 1 gives Firestone largest tire capacity in America. Builds the most nearly perfect 3½-inch tire constructed and saves from 10% to 30% on every factory operation.

FIRESTONE PARK—A beautiful, practical home community. Firestone men own their own homes. They put more into their work because they are getting more out of it. You benefit in extra miles per dollar.

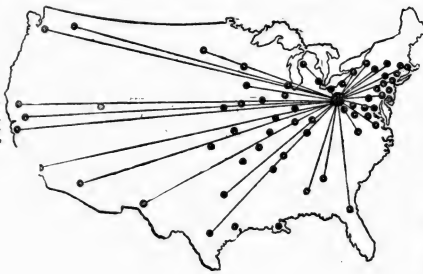

FIRESTONE CLUBHOUSE—Another step in the Firestone building of an organization that can do things better than others. Firestone advantages attract and hold the best men.

FIRESTONE PARK BANK—Firestone makes saving easy and alluring. And Firestone has established a Free Insurance Fund. Men with assured futures work better. You benefit in extra mileage.

BRANCH HOUSES in 63 leading cities serving 42,000 Firestone dealers, and wide distribution economically handled, is another reason for extra value in Firestone Tires.

FABRIC MILL—To insure the best without having to add a premium to price of tires and to get uniform quality and supply, Firestone invested in this mill. You benefit in long mileage tires at low price.

PREHISTORIC BIG GAME.

Alberta. Rich in Fossils of Giant Reptiles.

To-day we must go to Africa for the biggest game, but, says a writer in the Geographical Magazine, there was a time in the dim distant past when America produced animals larger than any now living. That was so long ago that nothing remains of these creatures except their bones, and they are turned to stone.

The animals are dinosaurs, for the moment we will call them lizards, not the creeping, crawling kind, but huge reptiles that stalked upright through the jungle, rivaling in size the elephants, the hippos, and the rhinoceros.

The year is Alberta, Canada and the time of their existence 50,000,000 years ago.

To-day there are thousands of different species of reptiles inhabiting the earth, and during each of the long prehistoric periods there were probably as many or more different kinds. Reptilian life is now on the wane. Rarely does a season pass without several new genera being brought to light, and this possibility of discovery of the new and unknown adds zest to an already fascinating field of research. Any prospect may reveal some new creature of bizarre form, and we are constantly finding skeletons of animals known before by part only.

The Edmonton formation (geologic strata, so called from locally in which type was first recognized) has been especially interesting, for at least two-thirds of the species discovered in rocks of that age are new to science. Each summer work has been continued from the point at which it ceased the year before, and the search has been carried on thoroughly.

Elsewhere complete dinosaur skeletons are rare, but in this part of Alberta they are not uncommon. In no other part of the world have so many (cretaceous) dinosaur skeletons been brought to light. One American Museum expedition collected eight skeletons from a limited area exposed along three miles of the Red Deer River. As a result of the past four years' work in Canada the American Museum expedition have collected one large case, or three and one-half cart-are exhibition specimens, including twenty skulls and fourteen skeletons of large dinosaurs, besides many partial skeletons. This material represents many genera and species new to science, and defines the anatomy and distribution of several heretofore but partially known creatures. But the field has by no means been exhausted. Under miles of prairie land the same strata are undoubtedly filled with similar fossilic remains. It is as if the river continues to wear the banks away new fossils are exposed. In a few years the same territory can be exploited with similar results, and for all time to come the Red Deer River will be a classic locality for collecting prehistoric remains.

MANY OBJECTIONS TO GOVERNMENT RAILWAY BILL

Government to Force the Question to a Vote Next Tuesday.

AN AMENDMENT

Moved by Mr. Fielding Asking for Appointment of Commission.

Ottawa, Oct. 31.—It is in the opinion of all day long the opposition has been waiting for the Government to force the question to a vote next Tuesday.

The bill could have been read the third time and sent to its fate in the Senate, but the "Liberal" government has refused to yield ground, and a stubborn delay continues to be maintained by the forces for and against public ownership.

Mr. McKenna wanted the third reading deferred till Monday or Tuesday, but the Government has refused to do so, and the bill has gone home to observe All Saints' Day. The Government Whip, Mr. McKenna, was adamant, and insisted on proceeding. This roused the temper of the Liberals, and plans were made to fight the thing till Saturday afternoon, if necessary.

Later in the day a rarer counsel prevailed to adjourn at 10 o'clock to-night. This agreement, however, was not out, but the Government took the night train for their homes, so the understanding that no division would be forced was not observed.

MR. FIELDING'S AMENDMENT

The outstanding feature of to-day's session was the introduction of an amendment by Hon. W. B. Fielding to the effect that before further action be taken by the Government on the acquisition of the Grand Trunk Railway, the Government should appoint a commission composed of persons of recognized ability and character to inquire into the railway, to report on its financial condition, to estimate its value and to make a full inquiry into all the public and private interests connected with the railway and its subsidiary companies, their assets and liabilities, the condition of the railway lines and their equipment, the physical value of the properties, the sum required to put the railway in efficient condition, their estimated earning power, and into all other matters connected with the railway, the Grand Trunk Company, and to make a full report thereon for the information of Parliament.

SOLDIERS' BILL, 'MONDAY

The soldiers' civil service pension question will be taken up on Monday, and the Government Whip, Mr. McKenna, has announced that the Grand Trunk bill will be disposed of by Tuesday, leaving the prohibition bill to be taken up on Wednesday.

MR. MCKENZIE PROTESTS

The fight over the Grand Trunk bill has been a long one, and Mr. McKenna has been protesting against the delay to the end of the week-end, as Saturday was All Saints' Day. He said he did not know of any bill but the Grand Trunk bill, and he suggested that the bill should be reported on Thursday night. He suggested, therefore, that the bill should be reported on Thursday night on the understanding that third reading would be given on Tuesday.

GO ON GO ON GO ON

Mr. McKenna's protest was not without effect. The Minister of Railways seemed to be somewhat mollified, and he said that he would report on the bill on Thursday night. Finally he explained that there were only one or two other bills under consideration, and he would report on the bill on Thursday night.

BEGINS IN EARNEST

Mr. McKenna, chief Government spokesman, was usual in his remarks on the third reading of the Grand Trunk bill. He said that the bill would be taken up on Tuesday, and he suggested that the bill should be reported on Thursday night.

THE DETERMINATION OF THE GOVERNMENT

The determination of the Government to proceed with the bill was a clear indication of its intention to force the question to a vote next Tuesday. The Minister of Railways, Mr. McKenna, was adamant, and insisted on proceeding.

"I Cannot Go"

Mr. McKenna's protest was not without effect. The Minister of Railways, Mr. McKenna, was adamant, and insisted on proceeding. The bill was taken up on Tuesday, and the Government Whip, Mr. McKenna, was adamant, and insisted on proceeding.

BLUES' HEADACHE SPOILS MANY AN EXPECTED VICTORY

When the condition of the liver is neglected, biliousness seems to become chronic and recurs every two or three weeks, with severe sick headaches.

WHY NOT GET RIGHT AFTER THE TROUBLE AND END IT BY USING DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LEVER TONIC

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Lever Tonic is a powerful medicine for the treatment of biliousness, kidney disease, and liver trouble. It is a powerful medicine for the treatment of biliousness, kidney disease, and liver trouble.

the measure had been given by Mr. Rowell, who had asked, "Why should the Government delay and give opposition the deal as opportunity to organize?"

INFORMATION INADEQUATE

Mr. Fielding said that the Government might well hesitate before plunging into such a tremendous undertaking when they had very meagre information before them, which to base an opinion. It was a large and important question upon which the Government had no adequate information. There was a strong feeling in the House that it was a Government experiment. The Government was not prepared to undertake the acquisition of the Grand Trunk Railway for 14,000 miles of railway under public ownership, which gave the Government a very meagre information.

far back as May, 1915, Sir Robert Borden disclosed to the House and the country to what goal the Government was directing its efforts, and the circumstances over which they had no control were compelling them to take over the Grand Trunk Pacific. Sir Robert had gone further, and said they were to be relieved of every circumstance to take over the Grand Trunk alone.

KNOW-NO LONG AGO

Mr. Meighen said the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier did not take a hostile attitude to the public ownership. On the contrary, he took the view that events and business considerations would make it obligatory for the Government to acquire the railway. The Opposition had no objection to the Government's action, and he had no objection to the Government's action.

Be Prepared!

"No, I have never taken out life insurance; I own a very comfortable home, and have a wife and family of seven. I am drawing a fair salary which we pretty well manage to spend each year allowing a little for illness and other emergencies."

"But I am good for thirty years yet, and in that time I hope to accumulate a nice little fortune to leave behind to wife and family. My father is eighty-two and is as hale and hearty as I am. We're a long-lived race."

Rather a rash statement, was it not, to come from an intelligent man chatting with a fellow passenger on an Eastern bound train. Two days later that man who spoke so decidedly succumbed to an attack of acute indigestion in a New York hotel. You can picture what his death would mean to his family residing in an Ontario City. We're a long-lived race."

It is the unexpected that happens; your duty as a father is to be prepared.
